I Can Sing from 1 to 10

Sung to the tune of Baa, Baa, Black Sheep

About I Can Sing from 1 -10:

Years ago I taught a dozen preschoolers who were all between 18 months and 5 years old. To help them learn to identify numbers, I created this song, along with some simple black and white illustrations. We sang and did the body motions on a daily basis, and happily, the 3- to 5-year olds learned number names very quickly.

One day the toddlers (18 months old) played by the wall where the illustrations for this song were displayed, and they pointed to the them, chattering in their baby talk language. I began to ask each of them in turn if they could find numbers I called by name and was astonished to find that while they couldn't say number names, they could point to the numbers I asked them to find.

I love so much that the babies could effortlessly absorbed something “schoolish” just from hearing the older children singing as they played nearby.
